The year 2021 also mark the birth centenary year of Dr. Verghese Kurien, one of independent India's most significant institution builders. Dr. Kurien understood that organising farmers around an economic enterprise for their development is a necessary condition for improving their well-being and for strengthening true democracy. This socio-economic transformation, have made India both self-reliant in dairy technology and a leader in milk production, and an important contributor to rural livelihoods today. Moreover, India celebrates the National Cooperative Week from 14th to 20th November every year to create awareness among youth & general public about the importance of co-operative model.
